gold and sent a spark across the conti-nent that put in motion the wheels of the Alaska-Yukon-Pacific Exposition, loosed the waters of its fountains, unfurled its banners, started its bands playing, released showers of daylight fireworks, called upon the saluting guns of the American and Japanese fleets, set all the steamers in the harbor and all the locomotives in the railroad yards bellowing and shrieking and brought forth rejoicing from all Seattle, which has toiled for years to bring about this day. The exercises at the world's fair grounds preceding the President's signal were carried out with military precision. The exposition gates were open at 8:30 o'clock. At 9:30 men from the United States Army and Navy, the Japanese cruisers Aso and Soya and the State militia paraded through the grounds under the command of Col. T. C. Woodbury, U. S. A., and the column was reviewed from a stand at the head of the Court of Honor by exposition officials, visiting Governors and others. The exercises were held in a vast natural amphitheatre sloping to Lake Washington.

The programme consisted of music, invocation by Bishop O'Day of the Catholic Church, brief addresses by Director-General I. A. Nadeau and President J. F. Chilberg, the main address by James J. Hill, chairman of the Great Northern board, and a benediction by Bishop Frederick W. Keator of the Episcopal Church. In his address Mr. Hill declared that the greatest service to the nation, to every State and city, to-day would be the substitution for a term of years of enforcement for lawmaking."

Mr. Hill denounced existing conditions and said that the law was so complicated that the administration of justice was difficult. Many of the rights of the great middle class, he said, had been invaded and destroyed.

There are four great words that should be written upon the four cornerstones of every public building in this land with the pess of a religious rite," said Mr. Hill. 'These watchwords of the republic are equality, simplicity, economy and justice. They are interwoven with every them will lead to every misfortune and every possibility of destruction that ises now threateningly in the path of our Lountry's greatness.

"It needs heroism, it involves the shakig off of ostentatious follies that have alleady warped our earlier ideals, it may even require a considerable readjustment of our whole industrial system and a reform in our very conception of the relation between a Government and its citizens before the severe standard of absolute equality before the law can be restored. So many are there framed to give to one an undue advantage or take away from another fair field and an equal judgment. It demands the abolition of that most hateful and corroding element in a republic that is called class consciousness. To steer the ship of state among these shifting and conflicting currents, now full speed ahead and now full speed astern, is a task of extraordinary difficulty. The New York Building was opened informally, as it was turned over to the apostion management for the day by the New York commissioners, who entertained the fair's distinguished visitors there at luncheon and at a banquet in the evening.

WASHINGTON, June 1.—President Taft at 3 o'clock this afternoon pressed a golden telegraph key in the East Room of the Yhite House which opened the gates and set in motion the machinery of the Alaska-Yukon-Pacific Exposition at Seattle. After pressing the key the President sent the following message to the president of the exposition company:

"The White House.

"THE WHITE HOUSE,
"WASHINGTON, D. C., June 1, 1909.
"Mr. J. E. Chiberg, President Alaska-Yukon-Pacific Exposition, Seattle, Wash...

"I congratulate you and your associates on this auspicious opening of the Alaska-Yukon-Pacific Exposition and I congratu-Yukon-Pacific Exposition and I congratulate the people of the great Northwest on the courage and enterprise they have shown in bringing it forth. The exposition, designed as it is to exploit the natural resources and marvellous wealth of Alaska and the development of trade and commerce on the Pacific slope, should appeal not only to the people of the West but to the people of the country at large. I trust it will fully meet the expectations of those to whose untiring energies it owes its birth and that it will prove a source of instruction and education to its thousands of visitors.

WILLIAM H. TAFT.

Whon Godfrey Chealander, a pioneer of the Klondike, began harping several years ago on the need of celebrating and commemorating the epoch of Northwestern development with an exposition at Seattle he had in mind a modest exhibition that in those days was spoken of asa "fair"—the "Seattle fair." Business men who seized the idea built upon it. "Alaska-Yukon-Pacific" the name still is, but the exposition that was opened yesterday is an international show and a good hig one at that. Foreign nations are well represented. Chinese, Igorrote and Esquimau specimen villages lie side by side in a corner of the 250 acre forest of tall firs within the exposition gates.

The money for the undertaking has come mostly from the Northwest. The city of Seattle after subscribing $650,000

The money for the undertaking has come mostly from the Northwest. The city of Seattle after subscribing $650,000 in one day, made it $890,000 and then took up a bond issue of $250,000. The State of Washington gave $1,000,000 on condition that not less than $600,000 abould be used for buildings for the State University, whose campus flanks the exposition grounds. The United States appropriated $600,000 for the Government building and for the exploitation of the Philippines, Alaska, Hawali and the fisheries. All the Pacific Coast States helped and so did Japan, China and other countries and States. In all the exposition buildings have cost $10,000,000. They have been more than two years building.

The general scheme of architecture is the French Renaissance, with several notable departures, such as the Spanish mission atructure erected by the State of California, and the house of logs—the biggest log house in the world—which holds the forestry exhibit and is to be the home of the department of farestry of the University.

forestry exhibit and is to be the home of the department of forestry of the Uniwersity of Washington.

The buildings are compactly grouped with a view to saving the pligrim tiresome walks. Just within the main gates under trees, are the administration building and the auditorium. Across Puget plaza from them is the fine arts.palace. Near by is the Government building, where one may get a panoramic view of the whole fair. The Government building is the most imposing of all. Among ton in a separate building is an aquarium, and in a wing is the biograph room, where such of Uncle Sam's duties as the handling of the mail and free rural delivery are depicted all day long. The Philippines and Hawaii have a building in front of the main structure, and Alaska is just across the street. A prodigious lot of interesting things have been crammed into the Alaska building.

In Dome Circle some of the counties of Washington have buildings of their own. Near by are the Idaho and Utah State buildings and the exhibit of California. Every county of the Golden State contributed toward making the display of resources unusually complete. In the rear of California's tile roof is the New York State building. It is a replication of the rear of the countries of the contributed toward making the display of resources unusually complete. In the rear of California's tile roof is the New York State building. In the rear of California's the roof is the New York State building. It is a replica of William H. Seward's old home at Au-burn. Further along Pacific avenue are the Washington and Oregon buildings— the latter completed six months ahead of time.

Near machinery hall is a music pavilion where daily band concerts are to be given. Towering Douglas firs encompass it. Close at hand is the palace of steel and glass erected by the Dominion of Canada. Other exhibit buildings covering many acres surround it. One of them, the Oriental palace, is rich in displays from Greece, Syria and Turkey. In other palaces are the exhibits of Germany, Great Britain, France and other countries of Europe.

The Japanese building has something from almost every province. The mines building contains a collection of ores that is said to be unequalled. From that building the visitor passes the Chinese village, the Swedish building and the exhibit of the Y. M. C. A., and comes at length to the Pay Streak, which is to the Seattle show what the Midway was to the Chicago fair and the Pike to St. Louis. Seattle is very proud of its exposition Near machinery hall is a music pavilion

the Chicago fair and the Pike to St. Louis. Seattle is very proud of its exposition site. It is a real park and needed little trimming except the weeding out of some of the firs to make more room. From tree to tree of those that are left have been draped festoons of electric lights. There are miles of woodland paths and gardens where 50,000 persons may rest and hear music after legging it about from show place to show place. Lakes Washington and Union, adjoining the grounds, are to be made use of for all sorts of aquattic sports; and always in the vista is Mount Rainier, tallest of mountains in the United States, and the free expanse of Puget Sound.

SHIELDED HER FALSE FRIEND?

Ada Gosda May Have Pleaded Guilty to Save Man for Love of Whom She Died. Probation Officer D. E. Kimball of the Court of General Sessions said yesterday that he believed that the Ada Gosda who killed herself on Sunday in a hotel at Far Rockaway was really Ada Goeda Murphy, who was paroled in his custody last March after pleading guilty in General Sessions to grand larceny. Mrs. Murphy told Agent Kimball that her maiden name was Gosda.

Ada Gosda Murphy was arrested last December on the complaint of Mrs. Annie Williams, at whose house in West Eleventh street she roomed. Mrs. Williams accused her of stealing $200 from a trunk.

Touchard Defeats Hackett in Singles at New York L. T. C. Tourney.

There was some gilt edged play yesterday In the third round for the Felipe challenge cup in the New York Lawn Tennis Club the third round for the Felips challenge cup in the New York Lawn Tennis Club tourney. Gustav F. Touchard of the Bedford Park T. C. met Harold H. Hackett of the West, Side T. C. and Touchard won, 2 sets to i. He played one of the most singularly uphill matches ever seen on the courts. Hackett won a love set at the beginning, and as the common saying goes. "put it all over Touchard." The West Side player would coax his opponent toward the net and then get in a smart pass shot which worked splendidly all the time. Hackett kept in his winning strokes for part of the second set, when Touchard won out. In the third set Hackett gave a fine exhibition of accuracy and the game and set appeared to be at his mercy when the score was announced 5 to 1 in his favor. Then came a surprising streak from Touchard, and he won six straight games, and in the display figured all sorts of tennis.

Wylie C. Grant and Calhoun Cragin met in the second, the set going to 13—11. The summary:

Men's Singles—Wylie C. Grant, defeated Calhoun Cragin 6-4, 13—11; C. L. Johnson defeated
